State Tax Commission releases updated income tax withholding tables to employers

Utah has updated the state's income tax withholding tables to account for recent changes in federal and state tax laws, the State Tax Commission announced today.

The Tax Commission notified all Utah employers of the new withholding tax tables that become effective for pay periods beginning on or after May 1.

The updated tables help ensure that employers withhold the appropriate amount of state income taxes from employee paychecks.

"Most Utah workers will see a change in the amount withheld in upcoming paychecks," said Tax Commission spokesperson Charlie Roberts. "Some will have more withheld, others will have less withheld."

If taxpayers are interested to discover how their Utah income tax liability will change in 2018, the Tax Commission has created a state income tax estimator on its website at <https://incometax.utah.gov/paying/tax-estimator>.

The Commission directs Utah employers to Publication 14 on the Commission website at <https://tax.utah.gov/forms/pubs/pub-14.pdf> for details on the withholding changes.
